

Tate Britain displays British art from 1500 to today. Yes, it's a museum, but it's also like a big living room. All those works of art are yours.

Create your own Collection.

Tate Britain
Millbank
London SW1P 4RG

Admission free
Tickets and Membership
020 7887 8888

Visit www.tate.org.uk

🚶 Pimlico 🚢 Millbank Pier

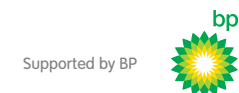

Opening hours 10.00–17.50 daily
Late opening first Friday of each month until 22.00

The I'M AN ANIMAL FREAK Collection

Create your own Collection online at www.tate.org.uk/britain

Picture credits:
William Holman Hunt Our English Coasts, 1852 (Strayed Sheep)
Jacob Huysmans Portrait of a Lady, as Diana
Philip James De Louthembourg The Vision of the White Horse
Mark Gertler Merry-Go-Round © The estate of Mark Gertler
Francesco Zuccarelli A Landscape with the Story of Cadmus Killing the Dragon

BP British Art Displays 1500–2007

BRITAIN

TATE

The I'M AN ANIMAL FREAK Collection

This is Britain. A nation obsessed with pets and animals. This is probably one of our most popular Collections. You might even find people throwing sticks around the gallery. Let's open this zoological journey with Holman Hunt's Our English Coasts, 1852 ('Strayed Sheep'). Sheep are a national emblem. We love them so much we sometimes eat them. Let's move quickly to the dogs.

room
14

room
19

We all know dogs are a man's best friend and in this case a lady's best friend. Diana, Goddess of the hunt uses her dog to chase and eat other creatures so she is perhaps not so friendly with the rest of the animal kingdom....let's move on again.

room
3

And lastly A Landscape with the Story of Cadmus Killing the Dragon by Francesco Zuccarelli. Dragons are animals too. We like them. Not like Cadmus. But he's got his own reasons - the dragon attacked his companions and now he's looking for revenge.

room
6

Now for some real horse power. What trusty steeds they are. If only we all owned a trusty steed instead of nasty polluting motor cars, the world would be a nicer place.

room
9

No cats. Insane isn't it? Feel free to curate the 'I have a serious obsession with cats' Collection.

