

Tate Britain displays British art from 1500 to today. Yes, it's a museum, but it's also like a big living room. All those works of art are yours.

The I HAVE A BIG MEETING Collection

For maximum effect we recommend you experience this Collection twenty-four hours prior to a meeting. Whatever the circumstances of your meeting, we are here to help you look good and to ooze confidence. Let's start by putting you in the mood. Look at Harvest Home by John Linnell. You can almost breathe the fresh air from that golden afternoon. Fill your lungs with greatness. (Always make yourself bigger before entering a room.)

It's time to take a look at the champion Greek archer Teucer by Sir Hamo Thornycroft. He's one of the heroes of Homer's Trojan War. The tip here is never to lose focus on what you're aiming for. You may meditate on this last point over a coffee in the Café.

Now we need to work on your look. Eyes are the most powerful weapons in meetings. Look at Queen Elizabeth I. Study her eyes and her pose. She's the model to follow.

Next up it's negotiation skills. It's easy - just imagine that you're haggling in the weekend market.

Spend some time in front of The Battle of Camperdown - meetings are often like that. No one said it was going to be easy. But the painting still depicts the moment of victory. Bravery is the name of the game. Off you go. Go for it.
