

TATE BRITAIN

HELLO FAMILIES

Start where you like. You don't have to see everything and there is no right order. Let your children take the lead.

Time travel through art on the main floor, from golden portraits of kings and queens, to giant sculptures and art on the floor, walls and even the ceiling.

1 DRAW

Pick up a pencil and get creative on our artist easels. Sketch your favourite art work, draw a friend or just doodle!

2 LISTEN

For an alternative experience use your mobile device to listen to our latest Sonic Trails in response to artworks on display. Listen online at www.tate.org.uk/kids/explore/kids-view/sonic-trail-crossing.

3 DISCOVER

If you were an artwork what would you be called? For more playful ideas to help you explore the art, pick up free family activities from any of the Information Desks, or ask a friendly team member.

4 UNDER FIVES

Come along on the first Saturday of every month to work with an artist and discover journeys through the galleries together. For families with children 5 years and under. Visit Tate's website to book a spot.

Family activities available at any of the Information Desks
© Tate

5 LOOK

Crane your neck to see through, under and over Henry Moore's sculptures. Try looking at these works from the ground, or from your grown up's shoulders – how is the view different?

6 LEARN

Visit the Learning Gallery to relax, socialise and respond to art, for all ages. For more information, please ask at the Information Desk.

7 PLAY

Remote-control each other, or use the building as a musical instrument! Experience the Playing Up Art Trolley and discover live art with your family. Ask at the Information Desks or check the Tate website for dates.

EXHIBITIONS

Family tickets are available for all our special exhibitions, on the Lower and Main floors – and kids under 12 go free (up to four per parent or guardian).

Under 5s explore the gallery at Tate Britain
© Tate

A family using the Playing Up activity
© Tate

SHOP

Our shops have an amazing range of children's books, games and art materials to help you continue the fun at home. Buy 3 for 2 Tate Published children's books over the festive period.

FACILITIES

You will find the toilets, baby change, cloakroom and cafés on the lower floor. Feel free to eat picnics in any non-gallery spaces or outside in the Millbank garden or visit the Clore Centre for a quiet place to eat and relax.

Our friendly team are happy to help
© Tate

WE'RE HERE TO HELP YOU

Our whole team are here to help you enjoy your visit.

WHAT DID YOU THINK?

Come back to tell us what you thought – did we help you on your visit today?

Tweet our Family Twitter @tate or #tatefamilies or leave us some feedback and any ideas you have to collect your special Tate Star sticker.

Playing Up at Tate Britain
© Tate

