

TATE MODERN

THE TANKS

FIFTEEN WEEKS OF ART IN ACTION

18 JULY –
28 OCTOBER
2012

FIND OUT MORE
ABOUT THE TANKS
EVENTS AND BUILDING
IN THE OFFICIAL
PROGRAMME AVAILABLE TO BUY IN GALLERY

FAMILY AND STUDENT RESOURCES

Families can pick up RGB Sunset Strip, a free resource for all ages encouraging playful exploration of the visual and physical qualities of film and ways of looking.

Students are invited to pick up a free resource You are the Artist, You are the Artwork, You are the Audience to use in and beyond the gallery, prompting an immediate, physical and interactive participation with the Tanks.

FREE. Pick up in Clore Welcome Room or email resource.coordinator@tate.org.uk

THE TANKS: 15 WEEKS OF ART IN ACTION

Be a part of Tate Modern's new space. Opening Wednesday 18 July, the Tanks are the world's first museum galleries permanently dedicated to live art.

For 15 weeks these magnificent raw, industrial spaces offer a sensational line-up including a commission by Korean artist Sung Hwan Kim and works from Tate's collection by Lis Rhodes and Suzanne Lacy. Experience live performances from over 40 of the world's leading artists, learn more about live art through talks and symposia and drop in to the Undercurrent festival for young people.

Find out more at tate.org.uk/thetanks
Use #thetanks

SUNG HWAN KIM

18 JULY – 28 OCTOBER

Sung Hwan Kim, one of the key artists of his generation working in an interdisciplinary way with video, performance, drawing and sculpture, creates a new installation responding to the unique architecture of the Tank. In his work, the artist takes on the role of director, editor, performer, composer, narrator and poet, collecting and collaging encounters, sounds, sculptures and images from his changing homes of Seoul, Amsterdam and New York. Drawing on a rich history of performance and film, his work is a unique form of story-telling investigating parallel cultures and histories, in which movement, people and spaces form his unique 'language', one that is infused with raw emotion. As such, each installation he creates usually incorporates both new and old work, coming together as a spatial 'drawing' – using simple materials such as wood, glass, chalk, light, video and music – forming a three dimensional image within the space.

FREE

OPPOSITE:
Sung Hwan Kim Washing Brain and Corn 2010, video still
© Sung Hwan Kim

LEFT & BELOW: Sung Hwan Kim
Temper Clay video still 2011
© Sung Hwan Kim

Supported by Sotheby's

SUZANNE LACY

THE CRYSTAL QUILT

18 JULY – 28 OCTOBER

On 10 May 1987 in Minneapolis, 430 women over the age of 60 gathered to share their views on growing older. The resulting performance, The Crystal Quilt, was broadcast live on television and attended by over 3,000 people.

It was the culmination of the Whisper Minnesota Project, a three-year public artwork empowering and giving a voice to older women. The process was consciously guided by a desire to represent diverse ethnic and social backgrounds alongside life experience and achievements, forming an active comment on the representation of older women in the media. Lacy has stated: 'In some sense The Crystal Quilt was successful politically, in that the work was bigger, it had more social impact in that region, but do one or two events ever change the way people – other than those who directly experience it – see? This raises this issue of whether you can expect art to create social change, and at what point is it no longer art.'

The Crystal Quilt now exists in the form of a video, documentary, quilt, photographs and sound piece, combining the original elements of performance, activism and broadcast in an ambitious work that fuses social responsibility with the power of aesthetics: something Suzanne Lacy has pioneered in her long career as activist, artist, writer and teacher.

Suzanne Lacy The Crystal Quilt 1985–7
© The artist Photo: Anne Marsden

FREE

LIS RHODES LIGHT MUSIC

18 JULY – 28 OCTOBER

Lis Rhodes
Light Music 1975
© The artist
Photo: Tate

Light Music is formed from two projections facing one another, creating an immersive environment of sound and light. The work is Rhodes's response to what she perceived as the lack of attention paid to women composers in European music. She composed a 'score' comprised of drawings that form abstract patterns of black and white lines on screen. The drawings are printed onto the optical edge of the filmstrip. As the bands of light and dark pass through the projector they are 'read' as audio, creating an intense soundtrack and a direct relationship between the sonic and the visual.

What one hears is the aural equivalent to the flickering patterns on the screens.

Light Music is projected into a hazy room – the beams that traverse one another in the space between the two projections become ethereal sculptural forms comprised of light, shadow and theatrical smoke. This format is designed to encourage viewers to move between the screens, directly engaging with the projection beams.

FREE

ANNE TERESA DE KEERSMAEKER, 18–20 JULY
Fase: Four movements to the Music of Steve Reich 1982 Photo: Herman Sorgeloos

18 – 20 JULY

ANNE TERESA DE KEERSMAEKER

FASE: FOUR MOVEMENTS TO THE MUSIC OF STEVE REICH

LIVE

One of the most important choreographers of the late 20th century, Anne Teresa De Keersmaeker will adapt her widely acclaimed 1982 performance Fase: Four Movements to the Music of Steve Reich for the first of the Tanks' artists' residencies. Fase, an hour-long minimalist dance performed by De Keersmaeker and a partner, is considered to be the starting point of the contemporary dance movement that developed in Flanders during the 1980s. In her choreography, De Keersmaeker explores the relationship between music and dance and aims to articulate the basic principles of the musical composition rather than allowing the dance to simply illustrate the music.

Please note these performances are standing only.

SHORT FREE PERFORMANCES

Wednesday 18 July &
 Thursday 19 July
 13.00, 14.00, 15.00, 16.00
 Friday 20 July
 11.00, 12.00, 13.00, 14.00

TICKETED EVENING PERFORMANCE

Thursday 19 July, 20.30
 Friday 20 July, 20.30
 £15 (£12 concessions),
 booking recommended

SATURDAY 21 JULY
 10.30–17.00

INSIDE/OUTSIDE:
 MATERIALISING THE SOCIAL

EVENT

What does it mean when an artist's work intervenes in the social and political relationships that exist in the real world of everyday life? How can this be brought into the museum? Inside/Outside: Materialising the Social will examine the ways in which these codes and boundaries have been tested in the work of artists such as Tania Bruguera and Suzanne Lacy in the past decades and how they have been theorised by key thinkers and writers, such as Claire Bishop and Dorothea Von Hantelmann.

£20 (£14 CONCESSIONS)

SATURDAY 21 JULY
 21.00–22.00

EDDIE PEAKE
 LIVE

Emerging artist Eddie Peake presents a new performance made especially for the Tanks, working with bodies, movement and music, playfully exploring physical form in all its manifestations. Peake's 'bodies' become both sculptural and sexual objects via choreographed actions, encouraging the audience to give in to voyeuristic desire. Presented in co-operation with the Chisenhale Gallery.

£8 (£5 CONCESSIONS)

SUNDAY 22 JULY
13.00, 15.00, 17.00

ANTHONY McCALL
THE COMPLETE CONE FILMS

LIVE

This presentation of the four cone films produced by Anthony McCall in 1974, which have rarely been shown together, includes the landmark expanded cinema work Line Describing a Cone plus, Conical Solid, Cone of Variable Volume and Partial Cone. These groundbreaking 'solid light' works transform cinema into a dynamic architectural and sculptural experience.

FREE

24 – 29 JULY

EI ARAKAWA

LIVE

New York-based Japanese artist Ei Arakawa takes up residency in the Tanks. Slide shows of works by Silke Otto-Knapp and Florian Pumphösl will be projected alongside a large reproduction of Jutta Koether's painting La Femme to create a theatrical backdrop for the week's series of collaborative performances and actions inspired by Arakawa's research into the Jikken Kobo and Gutai groups. Events include an art historical workshop with Harumi Nishizawa and Miwako Tezuka, while late night openings on Saturday and Sunday will play host to a series of performances and events. For the full programme of events please visit tate.org.uk/thetanks.

EI ARAKAWA 24–29 JULY See Weeds 2011. Courtesy of the Artists and Taka Ishii Gallery, Tokyo Photo: Alison Vieuxmaire

FREE EVENTS

Thursday 26 July, 14.00–17.00
Joy of Life art historical workshop

Sunday 29 July, 17.00
Kissing the Canvas

TUESDAY 24 JULY
18.30–20.30

THE TANKS SUMMER SCHOOL: SUMMER
EVENINGS – SINGLES NIGHT

EVENT

Artist Ei Arakawa performs Singles Night as part of the extra curricular programme for the Tanks Summer School. Singles will be invited to dance with Jutta Koether's Mad Garlands while sensual music is provided by Stefan Tcherepnin. This is an opportunity to explore participation with an artist in the context of their exhibition, framed by a Summer School exploring teaching and learning as a live event.

FREE, BOOKING REQUIRED

FRIDAY 27 JULY
18.30–20.30

THE TANKS SUMMER SCHOOL: SUMMER EVENINGS
– DISCURSIVE EXERCISES WITH FIVE YEARS

EVENT

Question, share and contribute to this evening event hosted by artists from London-based project space Five Years. There will be an open discussion on the (Im)possible School led by Edward Dorrian, a live publication by Ladies of the Press and a performance by artist Edwina Ashton.

FREE, BOOKING REQUIRED

31 JULY – 15 AUGUST

TANIA BRUGUERA
IMMIGRANT MOVEMENT INTERNATIONAL

LIVE

Tania Bruguera will take up residence in the Tanks with her ongoing art project, Immigrant Movement International – an artist-initiated socio-political movement that aims to explore who is defined as an immigrant and the values they share, focusing on the question of what it means to be a citizen of the world. Bruguera will involve artists, members of the public, immigration lawyers, politicians and charitable organisations in a debate around the political representation of immigrants and the conditions they face.

FREE

16 – 27 AUGUST

UNDERCURRENTLIVE

Tate's young people's programme presents a series of events, installations and interventions by audio, visual, digital and performance artists, for 15–25 year olds.

16 – 17 AUGUST, 11.00–17.00

JON FAWCETT EIR

Jon Fawcett explores the world of conspiracy theories and new age ideas, exploring activity beyond normal conceptions of what is real or possible. His object-based work is highly engineered, using military or high-end materials and technologies.

FREE

FRIDAY 17 AUGUST

19.00–20.30

HETAIN PATEL
*ME AND ME DAD AND ME WIFE

Hetai Patel's work uses imitation as a tool to explore cultural identity. In this performance, two films by the artist, To Dance Like Your Dad and The First Dance, become Patel's starting point to deliver an intentionally humorous monologue considering whether culture is imitated, nurtured or natural.

FREE, BOOKING REQUIRED

17 – 27 AUGUST

15.00–16.00

ARTIST TALKS

Artists from the Undercurrent programme discuss their work. These talks will provide an insight into how artists construct ideas and meaning.

FREE, BOOKING REQUIRED

SATURDAY 18 AUGUST

11.00–17.00

SUNDAY 19 AUGUST

11.00–21.30

DUBMORPHOLOGY
*DIS.SO.NANCE

London-based production and performance group Dubmorphology makes site-specific sound, digital and visual installations that explore social and political issues. Their installation will respond to the geometry and acoustics of the Tanks.

FREE

SATURDAY 18 AUGUST

19.00–21.30

RINSE FM

Playing grime, dubstep and other underground music genres, London-based Rinse FM gave Dizzee Rascal and Wiley their first exposure. In this installation Rinse will merge 10 seminal tracks with light and performance to explore iconic counter-cultural music genres.

FREE, BOOKING REQUIRED

21 – 22 AUGUST

11.00–17.00

RUAIRI GLYNN *FEARFUL SYMMETRY

Something primitive animates the darkness of the Tanks. Through the interplay of luminous form and motion, ambiguity in visual perception is explored and manipulated in an unfolding interactive experience.

FREERUAIRI GLYNN, 21–22 AUGUST Tetrahedron Illuminated © Ruairi Glynn

THURSDAY 23 AUGUST

11.00–17.00

MICHAEL BARNES-WYNTERS
DUTTY LINGO

Artist and producer Michael Barnes-Wynters invites young audiences to tune in and add responses to a live audiovisual intervention, exploring the sub-cultural lexicon of urban tribes.

FREE

THURSDAY 23 AUGUST

19.00–20.30

LEO ASEMOTA
"COUNT OFF FOR EO IPSO"

A conjunction of a live performance and on-screen replay. "Count off for Eo ipso" also completes the developmental cycle of The Ens Project, an eight-year scheme of works including films, photography, sculptures, drawings and live art.

FREE, BOOKING REQUIRED

FRIDAY 24 AUGUST

11.00–17.00

TRACEY MOBERLY
TWEET ME UP!

Artist Tracey Moberly's Tweet Me Up! will use social media to invite audiences to create an evolving digital exhibition of photography, art and action.

FREE

DUTTY LINGO, 23 AUGUST © Pablo Melchor

FRIDAY 24 AUGUST

19.00–21.30

ISYS ARCHIVE
A CITY SYMPHONIC

ISYS Archive will take to the streets of London to film youth culture. Experience a modern day 'City Symphony', tracing a day in the life of London through sound and musical samples from artists, singers, poets and MCs mixed with live performances, curated in collaboration with NTS Radio.

FREE, BOOKING REQUIRED

25–26 AUGUST, 11.00–17.00

TATE COLLECTIVE

Tate's group of young creatives, Tate Collective, curates a series of events that focus on audio and visual interdisciplinary performance and participation. This series of interventions, workshops and events in the Tanks will allow exchange, collaboration and a merge of ideas and artistic disciplines.

FREE

ISYS ARCHIVE, 24 AUGUST
Turburbia © ISYS Archive

SUNDAY 26 AUGUST

19.00–21.30

THE ORANGE DOT AND DAVID KRAFTSOW
TOUCH AND VISION

An immersive and psychedelic installation exploring how sound affects the way you respond to extra-sensory elements. David Kraftsow's app lets visitors control projections with digital touch tablets.

FREE

MONDAY 27 AUGUST

11.00–17.00

W PROJECT

The W Project celebrates women working in the creative industries with the aim of promoting empowering role models and building a better creative community for the future. In the Tanks, they present a programme of projections, audio, screenings and workshops.

FREE

SUNDAY 2 SEPTEMBER
11.00–17.00

FAMILY DAY: SOUND AND PERFORMANCE

EVENT

Itching to get involved? This participatory event invites families of all shapes and sizes to explore, collaborate and create together in an interactive hive of live sound, action and performance. Led by artists collaborative ATOI, Louisa Martin and Dan Scott in partnership with Tate. Everyone is welcome.

FREE

6 – 8 SEPTEMBER

WORLDS TOGETHER

EVENT

One conference. 20 countries. 60 workshops. 80 world-renowned artists and professionals. Worlds Together is a collaboration between Tate Modern, Royal Shakespeare Company, the National Theatre and British Museum. Whether your passion is for teaching Shakespeare, embracing new and emerging technologies or developing arts practices, this international conference has you in mind. Contributors include Tino Sehgal, Michael Morpurgo, Shirley Brice Heath, Mark Ravenhill, Carla Rinaldi, and Estelle Morris.

£395

11–16 SEPTEMBER

HAEGUE YANG DRESS VEHICLES

LIVE

Haegue Yang's mobile sculptures Dress Vehicles will be displayed in the Tanks. The wheeled structures are formed from clothes horses and blinds, animated with moving lights and projected images. With titles like Bulky Lacoste Birdy, they are inspired by Oskar Schlemmer's seminal Triadisches Ballet 1922. You are invited to work with the sculptures to choreograph your own movements in the space, creating a relationship between viewer and object as you 'dance' together. Yang will also work with a number of performers to choreograph moving the sculptures. These performances will be staged at various times throughout the week-long installation.

FREE

17 SEPTEMBER

INTERMISSION: LEARNING PRIVATE VIEW

EVENT

A series of pop-up activities, curators' talks and curious interruptions will frame this evening of exploration. Set against a backdrop of live art, this event invites teachers to consider the Tanks as a unique learning resource. Includes free entry to Edvard Munch.

£5, BOOKING REQUIRED

18 – 23 SEPTEMBER

JEFF KEEN

LIVE

Brighton-based Jeff Keen is a pioneer in experimental film and expanded cinema. This major installation and series of events will draw on Keen's early experiments in drawing, painting and animation, his fascination with surrealism and popular culture, and his radical development of multiple screen projection and raucous performance. A veteran of the Second World War, Keen's work is a powerful evocation of the violence, speed and noise of the 20th century. For full programme of events please visit tate.org.uk/thetanks.

FREE

18 SEPTEMBER –
17 OCTOBER, 13.30

MISGUIDED

EVENT

Who tells you what you're seeing in the museum? Misguided is an irreverent take on the idea of a 'tour'. The structure is familiar but through Misguided its appearance is altogether more curious: part parade, part carnival, part performance. By invitation only. Look out for Misguided on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

FREE

30 SEPTEMBER –
6 OCTOBER

PERFORMANCE YEAR ZERO

Works exploring the history of performance as a language of gesture, passed through one generation of artist to the next.

SUNDAY 30 SEPTEMBER

19.30 & 21.30

KEREN CYTTER SHOW REAL

DRAMA LIVE

Show Real Drama is written and directed by artist Keren Cytter and based on the life of two of her actors, Susie Meyer and Fabian Stumm. Having graduated, they soon find themselves unemployed and isolated from the entertainment business. After countless failed attempts to get hired, they decide to write and direct scenes for their own showreels.

£12 (£8 CONCESSIONS)

TUESDAY 2 OCTOBER –

THURSDAY 4 OCTOBER

11.00, 14.00, 16.00

KEREN CYTTER

PERFORMER / AUDIENCE /

MIRROR LIVE

Keren Cytter will reinterpret Dan Graham's seminal piece Performer/Audience/Mirror 1975. Graham's original performance was staged in front of a large mirror in a room where the audience sat facing themselves as Graham stood describing himself, then the audience.

FREE

KEREN CYTTER, 30 SEPTEMBER © 'Globe' an art initiative by Deutsche Bank
Photo: Alex Kraus

TUESDAY 2 OCTOBER –

THURSDAY 4 OCTOBER

12.00, 15.00, 17.00

NINA BEIER THE COMPLETE

WORKS LIVE

Nina Beier invites a retired dancer to dance every piece of choreography that they have learnt, enacted in chronological order. The piece is simultaneously a history of a choreographic vocabulary and a personal history of the dancer's experiences. Beier will work with three dancers from different companies.

FREE

FRIDAY 5 OCTOBER

20.30–21.30

ANTHEA HAMILTON

KABUKI LIVE

Anthea Hamilton will present a performance inspired by the classical Japanese dance theatre forms of Noh and Kabuki. Working with untrained performers and traditional staging to interpret some of the original choreographic language, Hamilton seeks to see how action and gesture can be passed from one culture and generation to another, making visible the stylistic mutations that occur via this transmission.

£12 (£8 CONCESSIONS)

FRIDAY 5 OCTOBER,

10.30–18.00 & SATURDAY 6

OCTOBER, 10.30–19.00

PERFORMANCE YEAR ZERO:

A LIVING HISTORY EVENT

This conference challenges the statement that 'performance is the art of the present tense' by considering how the museum might tell the story of performance art's extensive history. There will be performances of key works by artists whose own practices carry such history within them as live quotation, repetition or re-make.

£20 (£14) ONE DAY

£30 (£20) BOTH DAYS

LIVE PROGRAMME

25 – 29 SEPTEMBER

BORIS CHARMATZ
FLIP BOOK

LIVE

Choreographer and dancer Boris Charmatz explores contemporary movement and its complex histories. Taking David Vaughan's 1997 book Fifty Years, which charts Merce Cunningham's choreography over 50 years, Charmatz invited different groups of dancers – from ex-members of Cunningham's company to amateur practitioners – to learn and perform Vaughan's images as a speeded-up version of Cunningham's language.

FREE OPEN REHEARSALS
27, 28, 29 September

TICKETED PERFORMANCE
28 & 29 September, 20.00
£20 (£15 concessions)

THURSDAY
27 SEPTEMBER

LIVE ART SALON EVENT

Artist Harold Offeh and students and staff from Welling School present Vito and Me, a performative conversation staged around the dinner table. Commissioned by the Schools and Teachers programme, this ubiquitous scene becomes surprising situated within the cavernous space of the Tanks. As the seemingly agenda-less conversation unfolds the audience is left to wonder what their role might be, participant or spectator.

FREE

9 – 14 OCTOBER

ALDO TAMBELLINI
BLACK GATE LONDON

LIVE

Aldo Tambellini pioneered multimedia and multisensory work at the heart of the New York avant-garde during the 1960s. A major recreation of his electromedia events will highlight his incorporation of painting, performance, slide and film projections, video and sound to create dazzling, immersive media environments. Tambellini has been devoted to political and creative change throughout his career. He was one of the earliest artists to use video and television as a medium, and he established several collectives and venues in New York that contributed substantially to the development of cross-disciplinary art. For full programme of events please visit tate.org.uk/thetanks.

FREE

16 – 28 OCTOBER

FILMAKTION
LIVE

Filmaktion is the name used by a group of filmmakers who performed together during an intense period of activity in the early 1970s. The core members – Malcolm Le Grice, William Raban, Gill Eatherley and Annabel Nicolson – are major figures in the development of experimental film in the UK. An ambitious series of events will revisit some of the key performances and installations that allowed these artists to radically reshape the experience of film and the cinematic viewing space. For full programme of events please visit tate.org.uk/thetanks.

FREE

BORIS CHARMATZ, 25–29 SEPTEMBER Flip Book Photo: Christophe Urbain

ALDO TAMBELLINI, 9–14 OCTOBER
Black, Electromedia Performance at Black Gate 1967.
Photo: Richard Raderman. Courtesy of Aldo Tambellini

PLAYING IN THE SHADOWS, 26–27 OCTOBER
Photo: © Tate Photography

23 – 26 OCTOBER

JUAN DOWNEY

LIVE

Juan Downey was a Chilean artist working in New York whose innovations in video, sculpture and interactive performance encouraged reflection on perception and the self to rethink connections between society, history, information and the environment. Plato Now, a 1973 video performance, is restaged for the first time. Reconsidering Plato's allegory of the cave for the cybernetic age, the event challenges the hierarchies of the original parable. Downey's phantasmagoria of monitors, meditation and shadows reassesses our enslavement to sensorial experience, anticipating the complexities of electronic communication in which the image is always a moving shadow of something else.

FREE

FRIDAY 26 OCTOBER
16.00–22.00
& SATURDAY 27
OCTOBER, 11.00–22.00

PLAYING IN THE SHADOWS
EVENT

Through talks, discussions, screenings and performances, this conference asks what part live presence and action play in opening up the role of cinema, investigating performative projection, revisiting early precedents such as phantasmagorias and shadow plays and highlighting a long tradition of work that animates our primal connection to the play of projected light and shadow. Including talks from Noam Elcott, Lucy Reynolds and Duncan White, and performances by Tina Keane, Aura Satz, Patrick Staff and Kerry Tribe. For full programme of events please visit tate.org.uk/thetanks.

£25 (£16 CONCESSIONS)

SUNDAY 28 OCTOBER
11.00–17.00

FAMILY DAY:
FILM AND ACTION
EVENT

Tate invites visitors of all ages to celebrate film and action. Explore moving image through interventions, projections and the live creation of 16mm film works with moving image collective no.w.here and artist Anna Lucas. Celebrating collaboration in moving image, Film and Action will also present work created by families with arts organisations across London including Chisenhale Gallery, Show Room, Studio Voltaire, BFI and South London Gallery. Stand back and watch your creations as they are projected on to the vast circular walls of the Tanks throughout the day.

FREE

AT A GLANCE

COMMISSION	18 JULY – 28 OCTOBER	SUNG HWAN KIM
COLLECTION DISPLAYS	18 JULY – 28 OCTOBER	SUZANNE LACY LIS RHODES
LIVE	18 – 20 JULY	ANNE TERESA DE KEERSMAEKER
	21 JULY	EDDIE PEAKE
	22 JULY	ANTHONY McCALL
	24 – 29 JULY	EI ARAKAWA
	31 JULY – 15 AUGUST	TANIA BRUGUERA
	16 – 27 AUGUST	UNDERCURRENT
	11 – 16 SEPTEMBER	HAEGUE YANG
	18 – 23 SEPTEMBER	JEFF KEEN
	25 – 29 SEPTEMBER	BORIS CHARMATZ
	30 SEPTEMBER – 6 OCTOBER	PERFORMANCE YEAR ZERO
	9 – 14 OCTOBER	ALDO TAMBELLINI
	16 – 28 OCTOBER	FILMAKTION
	23 – 26 OCTOBER	JUAN DOWNEY
EVENTS	21 JULY	INSIDE/OUTSIDE: MATERIALISING THE SOCIAL
	24 JULY	THE TANKS SUMMER SCHOOL – SINGLES NIGHT
	27 JULY	THE TANKS SUMMER SCHOOL – FIVE YEARS
	2 SEPTEMBER	FAMILY DAY: SOUND AND PERFORMANCE
	6 – 8 SEPTEMBER	WORLDS TOGETHER
	17 SEPTEMBER	INTERMISSION: LEARNING PRIVATE VIEW
	18 SEPTEMBER – 17 OCTOBER	MISGUIDED
	27 SEPTEMBER	LIVE ART SALON
	5 – 6 OCTOBER	PERFORMANCE YEAR ZERO: A LIVING HISTORY
	26 – 27 OCTOBER	PLAYING IN THE SHADOWS
	28 OCTOBER	FAMILY DAY: FILM AND ACTION

TATE MODERN

 SOUTHWARK /

BLACKFRIARS

 BANKSIDE PIER

OPEN 10.00–18.00

SATURDAYS 10.00–22.00

SUNDAYS JULY 29, 5 AUGUST,
7 AUGUST 10.00–22.00

TATE.ORG.UK/THETANKS

 TATEGALLERY

 @TATE