TATE BRITAIN

THE HOUSE WARMING PARTY

Tate Britain, 23 November 2013, 15.00–22.00

We invite you to celebrate the opening of Tate Britain's new and renovated spaces and collection re-hang with a programme of music, films, talks, special artist commissions and more.

Art:

Get here early to receive an exclusive signed copy of Keith Coventry's specially created limited edition print.

Music:

Alexis Taylor of Hot Chip DJs a special blend of electropop to get the party started.

James Blackshaw plays an acoustic set using a 12-string guitar to create music that is intelligent, hypnotic and emotional.

Talks & Tours:

Salon London invites you to be entertained and intellectually stimulated by their specially curated Salon on the theme of chronology and time with theoretical physicist David Tong, food historian Leonie Sooke and musician Juliet Russell.

Join Michael Langan of Polari Magazine for Queer Britannia, a tour revealing lesbian, gay, bi- or trans-sexual themes in Tate Britain's Collection. BSL interpreted.

Film:

Assembly: I Extend my Arms is the first instalment of a major survey of recent artists' film and video at Tate Britain. Featuring short films by Bonnie Camplin, Shezad Dawood, Matthew Noel-Tod, Sarah Pucill and Melanie Smith.

KINO // TATE // 48 showcases the results of a 48 hour filmmaking challenge, masterminded by Kino and inspired by art in Tate Britain.

Fashion:

Take part in a workshop to make your own sculptural headdress with an award-winning designer Emma Yeo in the unique surroundings of the historic galleries.

Games:

For the chance to win amazing prizes go on a treasure hunt with a Tate Treasure map, designed by Tate Collective London.
